Every so often a commercial film arrives which shows the magic, art, and science behind what many of us love to do: audio for music. The most recent entry in this category enchanted a number of members of the Committee, and the PNW Section invites you to join us for a special showing of the video of the film: Tom Dowd & the Language Of Music.

Tom Dowd was born in 1925 to musical parents. While pursuing a degree in Nuclear Physics at Columbia University, he ended up working for the US Army Corps of Engineers on what came to be known as the Manhattan Project, whose responsibility was the development of the first atomic bombs. After the war, security concerns and red tape created a no-win situation: finishing his degree was pointless. A summer job after the war led to a career in the music business. He cut his first record in 1947 at the age of 22. He remained active in the business until shortly before his death at age 77.

Early on, Dowd met the Ertegun brothers, Ahmet and Nesuhi. The Ertegun brothers had a record label, Atlantic Records, and they had the good sense and timing to hire Dowd and Jerry Wexler. Between the four of them, they reshaped the face of the music business. Lest you not be familiar with the breadth, depth, and volume of Tom Dowd's work, let's take a trip down memory lane. In no particular order:

Aretha Franklin	Respect, Chain of Fools
Eric Clapton	Layla & other love songs, 461 Ocean Blvd
The Allman Brothers Band	At the Fillmore East, Seven Turns, Eat a Peach
Cream	Disraeli Gears, Live Vol 2, Wheels of Fire
Ray Charles	Hallelujah I Love Her So, Let the Good Times Roll
Bobby Darin	Splish Splash
The Coasters	Yackety Yack, Poison Ivy, Along Came Jones
The Drifters	Save the Last Dance, Under the Boardwalk, On Broadway
Kenny Loggins	Keep the Fire (This is It)
The Rascals	Groovin, Good Lovin', People Got to be Free
Wilson Pickett	Mustang Sally, In the Midnight Hour
Charlie Mingus	The Art of Charles Mingus

The list is astounding just in its sheer length, not to mention for the numbers of different genres and artists that he influenced. Get the picture?

This film is a 90-minute documentary profiling the life and work of a man whose personal history reflects the evolution of modern music and recording technology: legendary producer/recording engineer Tom Dowd. Tom was an Atlantic Records engineer (1947-1979) responsible for some of the most important R&B, rock, and jazz records ever made. After leaving Atlantic, he went independent and continued producing/engineering hit records until his death in 2002. His Interviews with recording industry icons tell the story of this humble genius, while historical footage, photographs and classic music tracks capture the magic of the recording studio. It's here that Dowd, the unaffected master, recounts the recording sessions and technical achievements that altered the course of contemporary music.

Filmmaker Mark Moormann premiered this independently produced feature-length documentary at the 2003 Sundance Film Festival, and the film had its international premiere at the 2003 Toronto International Film Festival. It has screened at festivals around the world to overwhelmingly enthusiastic audiences and widespread critical acclaim.

Special thanks to Rob Silverberg and Chris Blackwell of Palm Pictures for granting us permission for a group screening of this film. Palm Pictures is distributing the film in North America and the Caribbean, playing at theaters in selected cities in the U.S.. It was just released in DVD, and that is what we will be viewing.

There will be refreshments, and if time allows, a post-viewing discussion.

LANGUAGE OF MUSIC

Tom Dowd

DVD NOW AVAILABLE FOR PURCHASE

A man who seemingly fit many lives into one lifetime, Tom Dowd was born on October 20, 1925 in New York City. At a young age he excelled in mathematics and physics, leading to his work from the ages of 16 to 20 on the Manhattan Project at Columbia University. In 1946, as a sergeant in the Army Corps of Engineers, he oversaw a team of radiation detection specialists at the atomic bomb tests in Bikini Atoll. After his discharge from Army, he soon began applying his science background to help revolutionize the process of recording music. While working for Atlantic Records, his pioneering work in binaural stereo recording, and later his design of the eight-track console, modernized the recording industry.

Tom Dowd produced and engineered timeless records for artists including Ray Charles, Aretha Franklin, Otis Redding, John Coltrane, Dizzy Gillespie, Thelonius Monk, Cream, Rod Stewart, Lynyrd Skynyrd, The Allman Brothers Band, Dusty Springfield and countless other celebrated musicians. Dowd also formed both strong professional and personal relationships with many of these artists, including Eric Clapton, starting with Cream and leading to their working partnership on Layla and Other Assorted Loves Songs and collaborations on several of Clapton's finest solo albums.

Tom Dowd passed away on October 27, 2002, one week after his 77th birthday. He will never be forgotten.
