The Puget Sound Antique Radio Society (PSARS) will have its annual Swap Meet on Sunday, August 20, at 9am in the upper parking lot at Shoreline College. We are going to have a group of AES-Folk placed together at it with the intent of redistributing some of your old/antiquated/unused/underused gear. The event attracts a diverse crowd: antique radio collectors, hifi nuts, bargain hunters, people looking for parts, etc. Now we add pro-audio gear to the mix. There is a large built-in attendance and we would like to take advantage of their event instead of organizing our own. There is a minimal cost to being part of it ($25) but you don't have to be a member of either their group or ours to participate.

We will be together as a group and will identify ourselves as members of the PNW AES Section, and we will do some extra promotion on Craigslist stating what we have to sell, independent of the PSARS promotion. We are adding a $10 donation per seller to benefit our Section and we hope you think that is both a good idea and a very nominal way to have a decent way to get rid of extra stuff and support both groups. To be clear, the $25 cost is $15 to PSARS and $10 to PNW AES.

More info? Send email to We had a blast in 2016.

Want a space? Please send two checks by August 10th.

Please include a list of things you'll be selling, so we can post them on Craigslist to attract people who want to buy. There is no provision for payment on the day-of-the-event to be part of our group. We have to pay ahead of time.
